CORRESPONDENCE COURSES OUTLINED IN GUIDE

For the benefit of employees of the Agency who may be interested in correspondence courses, the Information Branch/R/TR, 2605 Quarters Eye, has a current copy of the Guide to Correspondence Study. This brochure, published by the National University Extension Association, contains a listing of correspondence courses available through fifty-four regionally accredited colleges and universities that are members of the NUEA. Listings are divided into areas of study so that you may easily find the name of the institutions offering courses in which you are interested. Details of credits, fees, degrees, and admission requirements are also summarized.

The guide is available for reference in Room 2605 Quarters Eye; inquiries may also be made by calling extension 4625 or 8271.

INTELLIGENCE EXHIBITS IN OCTOBER

The Support and Intelligence Products Exhibits, scheduled to be presented in October, again will be open to employees of the Agency. Each of these is shown in conjunction with the current Intelligence Orientation Course.

Scheduled dates:

Support Exhibit
Wednesday 29 October
1400 - 1600 hours

Intelligence Products Exhibit
Thursday 30 October
0930 - 1200 hours

LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY AWARDS

To date, 619 language proficiency awards have been granted. Fifty-five percent of this total has been in Maintenance Awards; 45 percent Achievement. The largest award was $600; the smallest, $25.

CLERICAL SKILLS QUALIFICATIONS TESTS
SCHEDULED FOR OCTOBER

Professors [REDACTED]

Tests in shorthand and typewriting for employees who are required to meet the Agency's standards in these skills will be conducted on:

to the Office of Training to conduct their 1958-1959 schedule of courses.

[REDACTED] first of two Effective Writing classes will begin on Thursday, 9 October and will extend through Thursday, 13 November: sessions are from 0930 to 1130 each day.

Monday, 13 October
Typewriting 1315 hours
Shorthand 1400 hours

Monday, 27 October
Typewriting 1315 hours
Shorthand 1400 hours

The course is for professional employees and stresses particularly, the fundamental principles of expository writing. Lectures are supplemented by class participation in written exercises and discussions. Each student must submit an original piece of writing which is analyzed by [REDACTED] and is later discussed by him with the individual personally.

They are given in Room 508 1016 16th Street, N.W. Supervisors who wish to register their employees for the tests should do so through the Personnel Placement Officers.

The Office of Training has a Clerical Refresher Program in which the different levels of shorthand and typewriting are taught. Employees who do not qualify at the Agency's level may be enrolled in one of the scheduled programs.

During the ensuing nine months, [REDACTED] will conduct three runnings of Conference Techniques and two of Effective Speaking. (One of the latter is presently in session.) The first "Techniques" course will begin on 20 October and will continue for six weeks. These classes meet on Mondays and Wednesdays from 0930 to 1130.

In the early sessions of Conference Techniques, [REDACTED] discusses the principles basic to conducting group conferences. Meanwhile, he assigns each student the responsibility for leading the group in about a forty-minute discussion. Intensive critiques are given as part of each of these discussions.

AMA Membership for Agency

The Office of Training has recently obtained a company membership in the American Management Association. Of particular benefit is that the membership entitles us to reduced enrollment fees for Agency employees at AMA's conferences. We are entitled to receive magazines, pamphlets, and other publications related to the subject matter covered in the various general Divisions of the Association. However, one caution should be mentioned: membership does not carry with it any increase in the present number of Agency personnel who may attend AMA's Institutes and other meetings.

New Publications by AMA

The American Management Association has published a number of books within the past year and we are listing the titles for the benefit of our readers who may wish to purchase any of them for their professional or personal use. Brief reviews of each are given in the circular, AMA Bookshelf, available for reference in the Information Branch Room 2605 Quarters Eye. Titles are:

Supervisory Responsibility and Authority
Selection of Management Personnel
Management in Action: The Art of Getting Things Done
Through People
People At Work: The Human Element in Modern Business
Planning and Developing the Company Organization Structure
Top Management Decision Simulation
Manual of Employment Interviewing
Recruiting and Selecting Office Employees
Men, Machines, and Methods in the Modern Office
Operations Research Reconsidered
Management Creeds and Philosophies
Effective Communication on the Job: A Guide to Employee
Communication for Supervisors and Executives

Regional Survey - East Asia

3 November 1958 - 23 January 1959

25X1A9a The fourth offering of the Language and Area School's Regional Survey, "East Asia", is scheduled to start on Monday, 3 November, and will continue through Friday, 23 January. Classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 1400 to 1630 hours in Room 2132 Eye Building. Anyone who wishes to attend the course should arrange for a pre-enrollment interview with the Chief Instructor, [REDACTED]. Applications for attendance should be in the office of the Registrar/TR on or before Monday, 20 October. Prospective students should, therefore, make an appointment with [REDACTED] (extension 8441) as soon after 1 October as possible. 25X1A9a

This regional survey includes a study of the social, political, and economic development of Japan, China and related areas in East Asia since 1800, with special reference to the impact of Russia, the United Kingdom, Western Europe and the United States on the area. The major emphasis will be directed toward the peoples and their societies in East Asia, against a background of the intersection of national drives and rivalries. The course is intended primarily for those who already have some knowledge of the area. Outside reading and a term problem will be assigned.

Air Transportation Institute

The American University's School of Business Administration will hold its Twelfth Air Transportation Institute from 10 November to 21 November 1958. This is an intensive study of air transportation which emphasizes as the over-all task of management, coordination of the varied activities resulting from current specializing of functions. It is designed particularly for executives who are preparing for positions of increasing responsibilities.

Outstanding specialists drawn from those practicing in the field will conduct the lecture discussion sessions. Field trips to transportation facilities, visits to Government and other agencies, and films will supplement the classroom work. The program is divided into the following major topics:

- Organization of Air Transportation in the United States
- Operations of Commercial Airlines of the United States
- Special Traffic Problems
- Government and the Commercial Airlines
- Field Trips

A copy of the schedule is available for reference in the Information Branch, 2611 Quarters Eye.

Management Institutes

The American Society for Public Administration will hold two Management Institutes during the remaining months of 1958. The first, the Northeastern Institute, is scheduled for 20 October to 25 October in Swampscott, Massachusetts. The Southwestern Institute will be held from 30 November to 5 December in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Participants will be from all sections of the country and will be representatives of each level of federal, state, and local Government.

The programs have been developed to give registrants a top-management, organization-wide point of view. Emphasis will be placed on developing management perspective, improving problem-solving ability, and broadening understanding of the administrator's role. The method of instruction will include small group workshops under the guidance of competent leaders, case studies to provide a common discussion framework and focus, informal consultation with leading authorities in specialized fields, and carefully planned lectures conducted in a question and answer atmosphere. Audio and visual instructional materials will be used.

Programs at both Institutes will cover:

- Administrative Leadership
- Organizing to Achieve Program Objectives
- Human Relations: Translating Individual Motive into Group Purpose
- Environment of Executive Action
- Improving Decision Making Processes
- Communication within the Organization: Problems and Approaches
- Administrator's Role in Inter-agency Relations
- Design and Utilization of Staff Services

Effective Utilization of Machine Accounting Systems

The Finance Division of the American Management Association has scheduled a workshop on Effective Utilization of Machine Accounting Systems at The Hotel Astor in New York City. The dates of this multiple-unit seminar are 8 October to 10 October and 10 November to 12 November 1958 and registration must be for both units. Registrants will be required to bring case histories for presentation and discussion at the second, three-day session.

Topics include:

- Objectives of a Tabulating Machine Operation
- Specific Definition of the Work to be Done
- Scheduling of Jobs and Operations
- Maintaining Control of Operations, Accounting Control and Internal Control
- Collecting Operating Data
- Operator Training
- Evaluate and Improve
